The Influential Actuary

How Actuaries and Other Technically-Oriented Professionals Set Themselves Apart

David C. Miller, FSA, MS, PCC

“Great book. Pity I didn’t have it ten years ago. I see many of the mistakes I’ve made discussed here. Will be making it a compulsory read for my staff.”

—Phillip Everett,
Head of Group Capital & Pricing Intelligence at National Australia Bank

In The Influential Actuary, available in softcover and ebook formats, David C. Miller lays out specific tools and strategies that enable actuaries and other technical professionals to add greater value to their organizations by being more influential in the way they communicate, influence and relate to others.

The Aspiring Actuary's Guidebook
to Consistent Exam Success and Advancement in the Workplace

NICHOLAS MOCCIOLO, FSA, FRM

Making the Grade was written specifically for actuarial students and those who are considering an actuarial career. Its primary focus is on suggested techniques to use in order to maximize success on the exams. It also includes consolidated information on the various actuarial organizations in the United States and Canada. The final chapter features an introduction to other non-technical skills which are critical to longer-term success in the actuarial profession.

The Fourth Edition has been updated to reflect the changes made to the SOA and CAS credentialing processes in 2013 and 2014.

SELF-STUDY

Did you know that 50% of SOA continuing education requirements and 80% of AAA continuing education requirements can be fulfilled through self-study?

We have a number of books that are engaging, easy to read, and can be worked through at your own pace and on your own schedule.

We have estimated the number of Continuing Education Credits that can be obtained from some of the books included below. Each person's time with the text, however, will vary.

ACTEX has Estimated the CPD Credits for some of the textbooks.

Actual credits may vary.

See www.SOA.org for details.
